Question:

Can you tell me about yourself?

Answer:

Uh, my name is Roshan. Currently I pursue my Btech in computer science.

AI Feedback:

Feedback:

- * Category: Bad
- * Score: 1/5

Reason: The answer is very brief and doesn't provide much insight into who Roshan is or what makes him unique. It's a good idea to prepare a brief summary of your background, interests, and goals when answering "Tell me about yourself." This answer raises more questions than it answers, leaving the interviewer without a clear understanding of Roshan's qualifications or what he can bring to the table.

Suggestions for improvement:

- * Try to provide a more concise and informative introduction that highlights your strengths, achievements, and experiences.
- * Prepare a few key points about yourself before the interview, such as your education, work experience, skills, or achievements, to help you confidently respond to this question.
- * Practice your answer to "Tell me about yourself" several times to feel more comfortable and confident when answering this question.
